“ Your mom and my mom were the closest of buddies. Talking on the phone every chance they got. Now they can see each other in their heavenly homes whenever they want to. This is hard and at times unbearable. Just keep remembering the good times and your smile will come back and your heart will feel joy again. But there will be a little heartbreak that remains. I still miss my mom every day even now. I will keep you in my prayers. I love y'all.
